APA Style Citations
Scholarly Article from a Database

BASIC FORMAT:

EXAMPLE ONE:

List authors by their last name, followed by their first initials.

More than one author: separate each name with a comma and put an ampersand before the final author.

Capitalize only the first word of the article title (and subtitle, if there is one). If no DOI is available, use the permalink instead. This can be found on the right side of EBSCO databases.

EXAMPLE TWO:

More than seven authors: put an ellipsis after the sixth author, then list the final author.

When a DOI is available, put it at the very end of the citation. Capitalize the journal title as it appears in the source.

- Cite articles from databases just like print articles.
- When a DOI (digital object identifier) is available, add it to the end of the citation.
- When there is no DOI, put “Retrieved from” and then the permalink of the article.
- You don’t have to include the name of the database unless your professor wants you to.
Journal elements needed for citation:

Location of journal elements in citation: